

NANTWICH CHORAL SOCIETY

NANTWICH CHORAL SOCIETY evolved from a WEA Course in 1972, under the leadership of Michael Bax. The Choir has worked with four conductors over the past 21 years. Its present conductor is just beginning his 11th season with the Society.

NANTWICH CHORAL SOCIETY has gained an enviable reputation for its high standard of performance, and has regularly attracted ever-growing audiences to its concerts. Particularly popular are the Choir's annual performances of MESSIAH and CAROLS FOR CHOIR AND AUDIENCE.

NANTWICH CHORAL SOCIETY performs a wide repertoire of choral works, including the world premiere of a piece by Steve Martland, and enjoys the regular services of many professional soloists and instrumentalists.

NANTWICH CHORAL SOCIETY was the first English choir to perform in the Advent Celebrations in Vienna, and has also performed in France, Germany and London. The Choir has twice broadcast on Radio Stoke.
